The remains of the Bay St.
Louis man were shipped here from Miami, where he died in jail, broken in body, bleeding internally.

According to an account in a Miami paper, Nicholas Bourgeois was taken to Jackson Memorial hospital on September 13. He was reported in a semi-conscious condition and was clad in only his shorts and a t-shirt.

It was stated that the fall in his cell could hardly have broken on Bourgeois' ribs, since five were broken on one side of his body and four on the other.

It was also recalled at the hospital
that Bourgeois had walked out to go to jail "under his own power."

Dr. J. Walter Omansky, the report stated, treated the former Air Force man for drunkenness.
The police were called to take him to jail.

"Bourgeois was taken back to the jail," the Miami account said, and placed in a cell. Inmates of an adjacent cell said he was attempt to walk, then

Lindley found him dead."

A late autopsy, the story said,
revealed that Bourgeois had nine broken ribs and had died when he here on September 12th.

Shaw Suggests Plan To Solve Bus Problem

Johnson Shaw, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, today suggested a plan which would permit students to ride school busses to private schools.

They had been riding county busses in the past. But new enforcement of a state law forbids it this year.

M. Shaw suggested that school busses be turned back to the state. The county then, in turn, would put the bus routes up for bid. The lowest bidder would get the route.

This bidder would be a private operator, and he would be able to ride children to private schools as well as public schools.

"This would help most of our people," Mr. Shaw said. "Unfortunately, some routes would be so small that no private operator could afford to run them."

"The county would have to keep these for public school children only."

"But most of the busses then would pick up children for all our schools."

One hitch pointed out by Mr.
Shaw was this: the law limits
private operators to a little over $30 a year per child for private busses. At the same time, the law doesn't care how much a county spends per student if it operates its own busses.

McDonald Sells Six Lots Plus House; Buys More

The McDonald Realty Company reported this week the sale of six lots one with a house on the property.

The company, which recently purchased the large lot on the Northeast corner of Sycamore and South Beach to be used for six modern "home" sites, stated the recent sales were:

Two lots in Pine Woods subdivision, one lot on Pointedexter Drive in Pass Christian Isles,
a house and lot at 222 Boardman
Avenue and two lots in Blue Meadow Subdivision on Main St.

Gex Named Youth Head

Walter Gex, Jr., was elected president of the Bay St. Louis Youth Center for the coming year at elections held this past week.

The group chose Kay Cabell as vice president, Carol Sue Ban-der as secretary-treasurer.

The inauguration of the new officers will be held in three weeks.

The Youth center's current drive for funds was reported by leaders this week to be lagging badly still.

Those contributing to the center during the past few days
were Mr. and Mrs. Teddo Thomas two dollars; Mr. and Mrs. R.
Schaff, ten dollars; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kelleher, 25 dollars and
Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Winklepeck
of the Dairy Queen.

Accused Stabber Goes On Trial For His Life Today; Boyter Murder Case Due In Local Court Monday

Gerald Lewis goes to court today to face charges of armed robbery and burglary.

Lewis was captured after he supposedly stabbed barber Tony Piazza in his home and allegedly stole some articles.

He had also allegedly burglarized the office of Doctor Jesse Sewell.

Lewis is being held in the Hancock County jail. He will be defended by T. J. White of Gulfport. Prosecutor will be District Attorney Boyce Holloman.

Armed robbery can result in the death penalty in the state of Mississippi. This is Lewis second trial on such a charge.

Monday Howard Boyter goes to court to face a murder charge.
He was arrested after John Novak, a New Orleans man was found dead near the Jordan River on the Kiln Road.

An eye witness stated that he saw Boyter strike Novak in the head with a board he had taken from a fire. Novak had been staying with the Boyters for three months in their Jordan River cottage.

Boyter did not receive a preliminary hearing because he waived his case over to the grand jury. The grand jury returned a true indictment in his case last
week.

Since he did not hire an attorney to handle his case the court appointed Sam Favre, a Bay St. Louis lawyer, to defend the accused man.

Boyter has been held in the County jail since the incident.
But at the present time he is in the Kings Daughters and Sons Hospital here. He is suffering from a recurrence of an old stomach ailment.

Sheriff John Egloff has placed
a guard on duty at the hospital for a full 24-hours.

He said, "Boyter is in the hospital. He has some sort of ulcer condition. The doctors told me that he would be all right for court Monday."

Tuesday the case of Ulysses Oliver for attempted arson will be defended by Attorney Dan Russell. The state prosecutor will be District Attorney Holle-man.

In the Boyter murder trial
Judge Leslie Grant issued 60
summons for jurors plus the regular 40 jurors called.

A number of civil cases were on the docket for the term of court but according to reports
most of them have been settled out of court.

Youth Center Gets Fifty Dollars From Legion Post

Members of the Clement R.
Bontemps Post 139 voted to donate $50.00 to the Bay St. Louis Youth Center at a recent meeting.

The move was made following the expenditure of $91.07 to promote the "Junior Fishing Rodeo"
by the local post. Members expressed regret that the post could not give more to this worthy cause but voted a hope that further donations might be made at a later date.

Mrs. J. L. Meyer Of Clermont Dies

Mrs. Joseph Louis Meyer, of Jefferson Parish and Clermont Harbor, died in New Orleans
on Sunday, September 19. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon with burial at Metairie cemetery.

The 68 year old summer resident of Clermont was the wife of Joseph Louis Meyer, Sr.

She is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. William Richardson, Jr., and a son, J. L.
Meyer, Jr.; and three grandchildren.

Sun Plugs On

The Sun Oil Company's seventh attempt to find oil in Hancock County was reported to be over halfway in its scheduled depth of 10,700 feet this week.

An unconfirmed report earlier said that the crew had reached gas sand in core cut at approximately $400 feet.

Darling Normand Named "Miss Forestry" Here

Darling Normand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Normand, was selected to represent Hancock County in the District
Forestry Queen Contest.

The District contest will be held in Picavue during the Pearl River Livestock Show on October 7th. Sixteen counties will have representatives in this contest.

Darling was named winner over four other contestants. They were Gaynell Cue, Betty Hartfield,
Ruth Bennett and Janet Breland.

Janet Breland was chosen as the alternate. Darling was awarded a bouquet of roses by Forest Ranger Parker.

The second place winner was given a check for $20.00 and the three remaining entrants were given $7.50 each.

Darling Normand is a senior at Bay High. She was entered in the same contest last year.

Judges in the contest were Russell Chapman, Doctor A. R.
Hava and Mrs. Richard Shadoin.

A. A. Scafide Services Here

Funeral services from the Fa-hey Funeral Home and Requiem
Mass at Our Lady of the Gulf
Catholic Church were held Wednesday morning for Arthur Aloysius Scafide, Bay St. Louis civic leader, who died Monday at the age of 57.

Mr. Scafide, who was the brother of Mayor John Scafide, had suffered a stroke several years ago. He retired as head of the Hancock Insurance Agency and head cashier of the Hancock Bank 15 years ago. Death came to him in a Cedar Rest Cemetery.

Several copies of the petition are in existence, and is not known at this point the total number of signatures achieved.

Stanislaus Wins; Bay High Loses

Overcomes Three Point Margin At Halftime To Defeat Foley 12-9

St. Stanislaus won its first game of the season yesterday due to a change in schedule. The team from Kenny A. had to travel to the rural school in Foley, Miss., and the winning state to seek its first victory. The game was the only one of the season. And the only one of the year.

Stanislaus plays home at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night.

The original schedule had the two schools playing for Stanislaus to go to the state football tournament since the game last year. Stanislaus had to be called off due to a hurricane threat. The team from Foley was made for the trip to return to the state tournament here.

In the Stanislaus vs. Foley game, Stanislaus had a hard time. The team from Foley had to be called off due to a high school football tournament in the state. They will play Stanislaus at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night.

Foley is still in the running for the state football tournament. The team from Foley is led by James S. McElroy, who is a part of his team. The team received a 10-0 loss to the team from New Orleans. The team from Foley also lost.

A few minutes after the game took over, it was time for the team to do their best. The team of running backs and the team of the defense. The team from Foley was good, but the team from Stanislaus was better.

With a couple of runs, the team from Stanislaus was winning in the first half. Stanislaus had a hard time, but the team from Foley started to move.

With Dick Fakler, Ed Harrelson, and W. C. Harrelson, the team from Foley was picking up yardage. Stanislaus had a hard time, but went to the Foley five yard line. From there Santa Cruz pointed to the goal line. The team from Foley scored. His try for the point after touchdown failed. And as the second half began, Stanislaus started three points.

In the second half after the team from Foley had a few points, the two teams exchanged the ball. And as the game was ending,

Bay Bridge Receives Award

The American Institute of Steel Construction this week awarded a certificate of meritable mention to the Bay St. Louis bridge in its 26th annual aesthetic bridge competition.

The structure was one of the top choices in a field of 63 entries. Winners of the first three places were bridges in San Francisco, Fort Worth and Cleveland.

Designer of the bridge here
was the firm of Hazlelet and Er-dial; the fabricator, Nashville Bridge Company.

The bridge is outstanding for the simplicity and gracefulness
of its design," the award said.

The bridge tender's house harmonizes well with the structure
as a whole."

On The Right Track

The proposal by Johnson Shaw to help solve the school bus problem is a good one. In an interview elsewhere in this newspaper, the Board of Supervisors President suggests that all of the county's school busses be turned over to private operators.

In this way, they could carry children to all schools instead of only the public schools, as is now the case.

Rep. Walter James Phillips has introduced a sensible bill which would have eased the situation. It passed the House, but was killed in the Senate.

It was killed in the very same way that considerable intelligent legislation is often killed in the Mississippi legislature. The upstate folks who prefer bootleg liquor to the legitimate stuff were behind this bit of ingenuity, too.

But there is some hope in Mr. Shaw's plan.

True, it would not help everyone. In some cases, the routes would bring in so little money that no private operator could afford to accept them. In those instances, apparently, we will just have to suffer along as we are doing now.

But in the vast majority of cases, the children of all schools will be able to ride the busses again.

Swift Work

There's real efficiency in the planning for the new Hancock County Hospital.

Step by step, we're getting somewhere. And that's the only way any community can show progress—that is, by taking each step as it presents itself.

The site appears to be a minor matter which must be worked out. But we're confident that the committee will do justice to the people of Hancock County in so vital a matter.

Don't Get Caught

On October 1st you can buy your new automobile license plates.

You have a choice. You can buy them early, and have an easy time of it. Or you can wait until the last minute and wait — and wait in a long line.

Who Decides?

They're having an interesting little argument in Pass Christian these days.

It seems that plans have been completed for a big motel on the beach. But some property owners are against it, for the commercial site would mar the residential value of their land.

There is no zoning law.

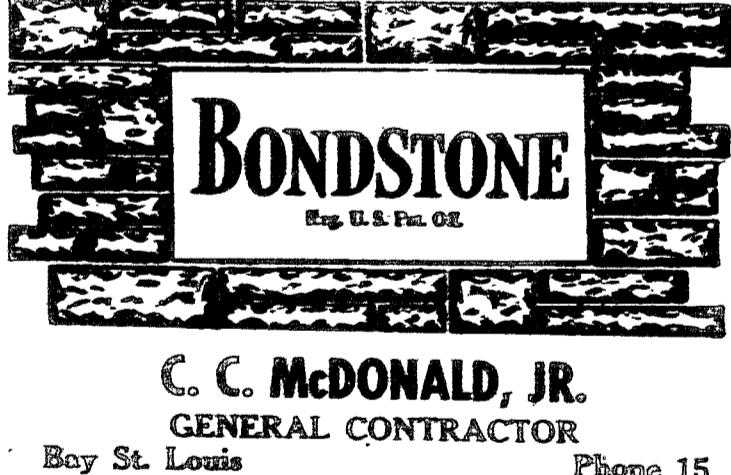

That has produced the interesting question of who should decide such matters?

Some feel everyone should have a vote. After all, they say, a new industry would affect the entire community.

Others feel that only involved property owners should have a vote. After all, they are the ones to be directly affected. Which side is right?

We fear this requires the wisdom of a King Solomon. Because the unhappy situation is this: both sides are right. A man should be able to protect his property. Yet the interests of all the people is paramount.

It's a tough decision for the Pass city fathers to make, and we are glad we're not the King Solomon assigned to the job.

GET FUN AND FUNDS—These teen-agers got double for their money this week. They spent their money at the Dairy Queen. Then they got it back when Lyle Winkleplek donated the money to the Teen-Age Club.

"Creole Cook" Tells How She Makes Grits Donuts

(Editor's Note: This is a second in a series of articles on the good cooks here.)

Gladys Blake, who has been with the Max Kohlers of North Beach for 35 years, dispenses from their pretty red and white kitchen the meals which inspire superlatives.

"I'm a creole cook," says Gladys simply. "I guess that means a lot of garlic and onions in almost everything."

But not quite everything. One of her recipes which is, incidentally, a thrifty one, is for a kind of "grits donut."

To make it you cook one cup of grits to the usual smooth consistency. This you add to a regular homemade pancake batter made of two beaten eggs, about two tablespoons of melted butter, a teaspoon of sugar, half a teaspoon of salt, two teaspoons of baking powder and a cup of milk.

Stir in about a half teaspoon of nutmeg to make it interesting.

This mixture you drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat. The grits "puppies" will puff up like donuts and get crisp and brown.

When you remove them from the fat and drain them, sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve with any kind of preserves or stewed fruit. The Kohlers pronounce them wonderful.

Another favorite in this house is stuffed cabbage.

This you make with the large Creole greenleaf cabbage.

From a large head you carefully separate the leaves, says Gladys. And after taking the head apart, dip the leaves for just a moment in a pot of hot water. This little operation takes only a moment and will soften the leaves so they'll be easier to roll around the stuffing.

The stuffing is made of a cup of cooked rice mixed with a pound of raw ground meat, two finely chopped onions, about three buds of minced garlic and salt and pepper.

Spoon a little of the stuffing into the center of a leaf of cabbage and wrap it carefully.

If you have trouble making the cabbage hold its rolled shape, you may use a tooth pick. But Gladys says that care in handling will make this unnecessary, for in the cooking the leaves will tend to stick.

Place your rolls of stuffed cabbage in a heavy pot in which you've made a tomato gravy.

Gladys' recipe for the gravy is as follows:

Make a roux with a little fat or oil and two tablespoons of flour, browning in this two chopped onions and garlic to taste. Add a large can of tomatoes, a tablespoon of vinegar, a teaspoon of sugar and salt and pepper. Simmer all this together very slowly until the liquid has been cooked down.

Then lay in this gravy the cabbage rolls and let them cook for at least an hour and a half—the longer the better.

Gladys and the Kohlers think stuffed cabbage tastes better the second day than it does the first.

The first recommendation made by this kitchen expert is to the early fall days when soups are the thing. Potato soup is especially good.

Cook about four large, diced potatoes in a very little water to which you have added a large onion and about four pieces of chopped celery. When the potatoes and vegetables are tender, mash them through a fine strainer.

To the mixture you then add a large can of Pâté or your favorite brand of canned milk, first heating the milk so that it will be smooth.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the bride's home. The bride and groom was assisted in receiving by their attendants.

A four-tiered cake centered the bride's table, and this was surrounded by fleur d'amour and fern and topped with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Peggy Gause cut and served the cake after the newly married couple had cut the first slice in the traditional manner. Tea girls were Mrs. Milton Bienvienu of LaPlace, La., and Miss Jackie Luce, the bride's nieces.

An aunt of Gladys', Aunt Mary Augustine, is remembered by many for the days when she used to go about Bay St. Louis selling vegetables from a little cart.

Gladys has been taught many cooking habits and recipes by Mrs. Kohlers and vice versa—in fact, she says, the whole family now likes to get in the kitchen and try a hand at brewing up supper.

Following the reception, the bridal party were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monteleone at their home, "Montebella," with a buffet dinner.

Later in the afternoon the couple departed for a wedding trip.

For traveling, the bride wore a pink knitted suit with brown accessories, alligator bag and purse.

The bride is a native of Pass Christian where she attended St. Joseph's Academy. She later went into business in Henderson Point. The bridegroom served in the armed forces during the war. He is now in Chicago as a commercial artist. He and the bride will live in Chicago.

St. Paul's Catholic Church in Pass Christian was the setting on Sept. 8 for the marriage of Miss Annie Jacqueline Pagano, daughter of Mr. Gaetano Pagano and the late Mrs. Pagano, of Henderson Point, to Mr. Thayer Elwood Lutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Lutz of Oregon, Wisc.

The single ring ceremony was performed at high noon by Rev. J.P. McGlade, who also gave the nuptial blessing.

The altar was decorated with gold vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, palms and seashells.

Three other girls who compeited for the honor were: Barbara Carr, Pat Lusich and Gail Banderet.

On September 22, 1954, Mr. Marcel LaNsa, band director, at Bay High School, and Mr. Jim Shannon, of Werlein's, New Orleans, will give musical aptitude tests to the pupils of the 4th through the 8th grades.

That evening, Wednesday, September 22, 1954, at 7 p.m. in the Bay High School auditorium, Mr. Shannon and Mr. LaNsa will meet with any parents of pupils interested in joining the Bay High Band.

The First Grade pupils took part in the P.T.A. meeting Tuesday, Georgia Horton gave a short report of activities in class.

Brenda Banderet, Betty Carol Hill, Toni Ladner, Danna Seiler, assisted in ushering.

COASTING

By ANNE ORLEANS

Edna and Sallie grew up in Texas, went to school together and were always close friends. Sallie married Chas. Coleman and stayed in Texas. Edna married Harry Gamble and they made their home and raised their family in New Orleans. For many years they have spent their summers in Bay St. Louis.

Last week, these two friends had a reunion. Mrs. Coleman came over from Texas to New Orleans where she was met by Mrs. Gamble. After a pleasant visit in New Orleans, they came over to the Bay and then spent the rest of their visit at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Gamble will spend the winter in New Orleans and have taken an apartment on Nashville Avenue right next to the old Milling home which Mrs. Gamble knows so well as she is related to the Milling family.

When Virginia and Donald Halsey closed their summer home the week after Labor Day, they did not expect to see it again for some time but, their eldest daughter, decided to throw a house party so last week, two cars full came over with Virginia Halsey and Sister Williams in charge. Fortunately, the rain had stopped and everyone dashed to the swimming pool. Among the guests, were Susan Meyer, Elizabeth Strachan, Anne Avago, Susan England, Susan Waechter, Virginia Schander, Sally Chapman and Martha Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills Fuller who have been so busy having ground cleared and a fence built around the site of their home on which work will start soon, took time off and went to New Orleans for a visit of several days with Doris and Bob Simon their daughter and son-in-law. Bobby, their eldest grandson, has left for Castle Height Military School in Lebanon, Texas.

Spending a pleasant week end at the Ross Cottage were Celeste Hart, Dr. Ralph Ross, Henry and their children, Kathleen, Ralph and Randy, all coming over from New Orleans.

Mrs. Ed Carrere dashed into

New Orleans for a brief visit last week. With all the work that she does for her church and at the hospital, she cannot afford to be away for any length of time.

Dorothy and Kenneth Thompson who had been visiting in New Orleans, have returned to their home in Waveland. Mrs. Laramann, Dot's mother has come with them.

Mrs. E. A. Jimison over for a long weekend and delighted to find her garden looking so fresh and green after the heavy rains and more than delighted that she did not have to water the yard.

Yvonne and Duralde Claiborne who live at their home on Nicholson Avenue, all through the summer, have returned to New Orleans for the winter but still come back to the Coast for the week ends. Both daughters, Lu-ee and Yvonne, came with them last week. By the way, did you know that Duralde is a wonderful cook? Her chicken and mushroom and her broiled steaks are really something special. Howard Perlman and his brother Claiborne are also experts in the culinary arts. They all have a great deal in common with President Eisenhower.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Morse over for a late summer weekend. Since they installed their air-conditioner this summer the heat does not spoil their week-end visits anymore and when we had heat and mosquitoes, that air-conditioner was really a blessing.

Col and Mrs. Morris D. De Pas have come to live at the Bay. They and their families live in New Orleans and as children spent many summers on the Coast. Mrs. De Pas is a sister of Commander C. R. Beyer and it is through the Beyers who have made their home here that we have acquired our nice new neighbors. Col. De Pas is now retired after a long and interesting career in the U. S. Army. His last position was Military Attaché to the U. S. Embassy in Pretoria, South Africa. When their ship sailed from Africa a few weeks ago, there was snow on the mountain tops. Col and Mrs. De Pas have moved into the old Assinheimer home on Union Street. In the course of their military life they have accumulated many interesting things from many countries and among the things they have brought to their new home are six Rhodesian Ridge Back dogs, a fine breed but not so well known in the United States.

Col. De Pas was principal of Bay High and football and basketball coach in the school terms from 1915 to 1917 when he joined the ROTC and has been in the army ever since.

Mrs. Anita Sokol who had taken an apartment in New Orleans for the past year, has returned to her home on Nicholson Avenue in Waveland. That does not mean that she is going to stay put. She is a great traveler and returned recently from Chattanooga, Tenn., where she saw her son and his family. She drove her own car and covered over 500 miles each way.

She is leaving today for the East and will fly to Philadelphia for a visit with friends. From there she will go to New York to see the new plays. She will also visit in Stamford, Conn., with her brother, Sidney Gilbert, and his family. She's planning to make several tours in New England when the Fall coloring of the trees is at its best.

Visitors at the STORK'S NEST, Mrs. Urban Stork, her little daughter, Sarah, and Mrs. Johnna Stork, Doctor Stork's mother, drove down from Evansville, Indiana, to spend six weeks at their pretty cottage on the beach. Dr. Stork cannot take that long a vacation but he will come down for several weeks. We think that we have had hot weather here but the thermometer in their home town actually went up to 106 this summer and no rain. They do appreciate the Gulf breeze. While waiting for the doctor they have tested the fishing and one day caught seven channel bass and a nice sized red fish right off the seawall.

Win and Annette Carter, members of Pass Christian who left last week to live with their daughter in Houston, Texas, came over the previous Sunday to enjoy a delicious buffet supper at Mable and Turk.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Karrigan have not been over to their cottage for several months. They have been so busy moving around in New Orleans first, they sold their home on Pierre St. and had hardly settled on Belair street when some one had to buy their place so now they are on Audubon, just off Fontainbleau. This past week they came over to the coast with lots of company, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Holzenthal, with their children and grandchildren. These added to the Kerrigan children, Patsy and Paul counted up to eleven guests.

Officers of the Teen-Age Canterbury Club for the coming season were elected at a Teen-Age dance given last Saturday at the Teen-Age Community Building. Elected president was Joe Benningo, vice-president, Mildred Logan; secretary, Ruby Jo. Livesey; treasurer, Shannon Sprinkle.

Gerold Scoper represents Pass High on the teenage governing board, and Sally Bishop represents St. Joseph.

The dance was a big success, netting $22 for chairs to be used in the Teen-Age hall. The next Canterbury social is planned for October 2nd.

Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met September 15 in the chapter room of the Community Center Building and made expansion plans for the fall "Rush" season on new members. The Youth Group of the Trinity Episcopal Church presented an unusual forum last Thursday night on the subject: What Parents Expect of Teen-Agers undertaken by a panel of parents that included Mrs. Grady Mangan, Mrs. William Kalif, Mrs. E. A. Allen and Mrs. John KoVace.

On the same platform was a panel of teen-agers which point by point took up the other side of the scene: What Teen-Agers Expect of Parents. This panel consisted of Michael Moffitt, Warren Adam, Jr., Fred DeMetz and Diane Jeffcoat.

Moderator for the evening was Randall Jones and the entire project was under the supervision of Mrs. Lawson Beach, director of the Youth Group. While the weather kept down attendance, those who came to hear the two points agreed in general with the moderator that both parents and teen-agers had pretty much the same objectives, namely to make the family unit pleasant and well-ordered with privileges and responsibilities pretty equally shared.

Some of the points upon which agreement was reached included: Parents help in certain cases with homework; Teen-agers receive pay for special home duties; single and double-dating ages depend upon the type of social activity attended; sharing should not include personal effects of members of the family; boys should not do girls' work if both are in a family unit.

Points upon which no agreement was reached included the driving age for teen-agers with the family car and decisions concerning the use of money in purchases, choice of educational facilities and selection of friends. The entire idea of the forum was created by Michael Moffitt who is attending the Episcopal Church in Kannapolis, N. C. recently.
